COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

This course examines current issues and responses to the problem of gender-based violence. We will focus especially on the topics of rape/sexual assault, child sexual abuse, intimate partner violence, stalking, and sexual harassment. We will discuss ongoing controversies about the causes and effects of such violence and examine the psychological, legal, sociological, and political discourses surrounding these issues.

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to

- identify cultural and structural sources of gender-based violence;
- understand how the intersections of gender/sexuality, race/ethnicity, class, and other characteristics are reflected in women's experiences of gender-based violence;
- apply key concepts and approaches from a variety of disciplines, including Women's and Gender Studies, Political Science, Sociology, and Psychology, to analyze the problem of violence against women and responses to it in the U.S.;
- propose appropriate individual and policy responses to violence against women; and
- articulate the ways in which gender-based violence is a social justice issue.

PREREQUISITES

There are no prerequisites for this course.

TEXTS

The following required text is available in the university's bookstore:

- Alice Sebold, Lucky (New York: Back Bay Books/Little, Brown and Company, 2002).
- There are many additional assigned articles. Some are available through Pius Library and on the internet and others on Blackboard. Blackboard items are indicated with an asterisk.

TEACHING AND LEARNING METHODS

REQUIREMENTS:

Class attendance: It is important to attend each class meeting so that you remain engaged with the course material and discussions. You may miss a total of two class periods during the semester for any reason (you need not provide an excuse); additional absences will lower your grade. I strongly urge you to save your excused absences for when you are sick.

Class participation and preparation: Since the class periods will be primarily discussion based, your substantial, consistent, and thoughtful contributions to class discussion (as both a speaker and a listener) are essential. I will use participation in class discussions as a factor in deciding borderline grades for the course.

Computer use: Based on studies about optimal student learning and classroom dynamics, students will NOT be allowed to use computers during class unless otherwise noted.

METHODS OF EVALUATION

Your final grade in this course will be determined as follows:

10% Daily discussion questions. By 9:00 a.m. the morning of one class period each week (I will assign you to either the Tues. or Thurs. class), email to me one open-ended question that can be discussed in class, along with a sentence or two about why you chose this particular question. I will grade these credit/no credit. You can skip doing these for one class period during the semester. If you successfully complete 90% of these, you will earn an "A" for this portion of your grade; 80% will earn a "B", and so on. Here are some ideas to get started:

Discussion question topic:

- Something in the reading that stood out to you, surprised you, or resonated with your experience;
- Something that connects (or contrasts) with things you have learned in this or other courses;
- Something in the reading that you want a deeper understanding about; or
- Something that has implications for your media project.

Open-ended questions: In general, these are questions that begin with the words What, Why, and How. Good questions will:

- Ask the class to reflect on the topic;
- Invite the class to think critically;
- Invite the class to think independently and creatively; or
- Allow for students to express opinions based on what was read.

10% Rape Law Analysis paper. You will be required to write a 500-750 word analysis of your state's laws regarding rape/sexual assault. The assignments is available on Blackboard.

50% Media Project. You will choose some everyday representations of violence against women in the media (for example, news reports, advertisements, magazine articles, or episodes of a TV show) and create a piece online that critically analyzes the assumptions and expectations they promote about gender-based violence. (For details, see separate handout, which is also posted on Blackboard.)

Your total grade for the Media Project will be comprised of the following:

- 10% Designer's statement (graded pass/fail)
- 10% Preliminary analysis paper (graded with letter grade)
- 30% Final project

30% Take-home final exam (2 essays worth 15% each). Available on Blackboard, choose 2 of the 4 essay questions and write a 500-750 word answer to each one. The topics span the entire semester. The final due date is specified at the end of this syllabus, but you can turn it in any time during the final exam period.

OTHER COURSE POLICIES

TRIGGER WARNING

This class contains a lot of information that may be triggering to people who have or have not experienced violence. If the material becomes emotionally overwhelming at any point during the semester, please talk to the instructor and/or seek the support of formal or informal resources that can help.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is honest, truthful and responsible conduct in all academic endeavors. The mission of Saint Louis University is "the pursuit of truth for the greater glory of God and for the service of humanity." Accordingly, all acts of falsehood demean and compromise the corporate endeavors of teaching, research, health care, and community service via which SLU embodies its mission. The University strives to prepare students for lives of personal and professional integrity, and therefore regards all breaches of academic integrity as matters of serious concern.

The governing University-level Academic Integrity Policy was adopted in Spring 2015, and can be accessed on the Provost's Office website at:

http://www.slu.edu/Documents/provost/academic_affairs/University-wide%20Academic%20Integrity%20Policy%20FINAL%20%206-26-15.pdf.

Additionally, each SLU College, School, and Center has adopted its own academic integrity policies, available on their respective websites. All SLU students are expected to know and abide by these policies, which detail definitions of violations, processes for reporting violations, sanctions, and appeals. Please direct questions about any facet of academic integrity to your faculty, the chair of the department of your academic program, or the Dean/Director of the College, School or Center in which your program is housed.

Disability Services Academic Accommodations

Students with a documented disability who wish to request academic accommodations must contact Disability Services to discuss accommodation requests and eligibility requirements. Once successfully registered, the student also must notify the course instructor that they wish to access accommodations in the course.

Please contact Disability Services, located within the Student Success Center, at Disability_services@slu.edu or 314/977-3484 to schedule an appointment. Confidentiality will be observed in all inquiries. Once approved, information about the student's eligibility for academic accommodations will be shared with course instructors via email from Disability Services and viewed within Banner via the instructor's course roster.

Note: Students who do not have a documented disability but who think they may have one are encouraged to contact to Disability Services.

Title IX

Saint Louis University and its faculty are committed to supporting our students and seeking an environment that is free of bias, discrimination, and harassment. If you have encountered any form of sexual misconduct (e.g. sexual assault, sexual harassment, stalking, domestic or dating violence), we encourage you to report this to the University. If you speak with a faculty member about an incident of misconduct, that faculty member must notify SLU's Title IX coordinator, Anna R. Kratky (DuBourg Hall, room 36; akratky@slu.edu; 314-977-3886) and share the basic facts of your experience with her. The Title IX coordinator will then be available to assist you in understanding all of your options and in connecting you with all possible resources on and off campus.

If you wish to speak with a confidential source, you may contact the counselors at the University Counseling Center at 314-977-TALK. To view SLU's sexual misconduct policy and for resources, please visit the following web addresses:

<http://www.slu.edu/general-counsel-home/office-of-institutional-equity-and-diversity/sexual-misconduct-policy> www.slu.edu/here4you .

Student Success Center

In recognition that people learn in a variety of ways and that learning is influenced by multiple factors (e.g., prior experience, study skills, learning disability), resources to support student success are available on campus. The Student Success Center assists students with academic and career related services, and is located in the Busch Student Center (Suite, 331) and the School of Nursing (Suite, 114). Students can visit www.slu.edu/success to learn more about:

- Course-level support (e.g., faculty member, departmental resources, etc.).
- University-level support (e.g., tutoring services, university writing services, disability services, academic coaching, career services, and/or facets of curriculum planning).

Writing Center

I encourage you to take advantage of the writing services in the Student Success Center. Getting feedback benefits writers at all skill levels. Trained writing consultants can help with any writing, multimedia project, or oral presentation. During the one-on-one consultations, you can work on everything from brainstorming and developing ideas to crafting strong sentences and documenting sources. These services do fill up, so make an appointment early! For more information, or to make, change, or cancel an appointment, call 977-3484 or visit <http://www.slu.edu/writingservices.xml>.
